ABOUT MEHAR

I am an easy-going person with a positive attitude towards life. I am simple, soft-spoken, respectful, an educated person with the right mix of modern and traditional cultures. I am God fearing and read the Quran every day and perform the Namaz five times a day. I am an artist who is passionate about Islamic art and calligraphy. I have created fonts based on Islamic art and I currently work as a freelance graphics designer for several ecommerce brands.

I love good food and I also dabble in cooking whenever I get a chance at home.

FAMILY BACKGROUND

Father: Abdul Rahman (Bank Manager)

Mother: Yasmeen Khan (Homemaker)

Younger Sister: Parveen Sultana (Student)

Our family is based out of Hyderabad. My parental grandfather was working for the Nawab of Hyderabad before 1947. My father and mother come from well-educated and cultured families and place an emphasis on fehzab and respect to elders.

My father is a manager with a private bank and my mother is a homemaker. I have a younger sister who is will be completing high school later this year.

EXPECTATIONS

I am looking for someone who can be a true friend for life. He should be calm, understanding, caring, loving, and at least be moderately religious. While I believe in Allah, I expect my partner to have the open mind to mingle with people from other religions and backgrounds.

My ideal match would be someone who is successful in his career, well settled and has a positive outlook to life even when the going gets tough.

LIFESTYLE CHOICES

I don't drink or smoke. I expect the same from a match.

I have not yet decided on wearing hijab after marriage.

Have performed Umrah and Haj. Not a requirement for the match.

Not looking for a specific caste. Caste no bar.
